Can't I just burn my garbage?
 North Carolina law allows the burning of vegetative debris only. It is illegal to burn anything else. Duplin County Sheriff's office employs an Enforcement Officer to investigate and prosecute burning complaints, illegal dumping and littering violations. State law and Duplin County's Waste Management Ordinance provides for the prosecution of those who burn, dump trash on other's property or public highways with stiff financial penalties.

Duplin County operates 15 collection sites to receive garbage and recyclables from its rural residences. Operating costs are financed through annual availability fees and there is no additional cost for items delivered to the collection centers. Attendants are on duty to insure proper placement of materials.
